INTERIOR COATINGS

Interior paint is a type of paint used for the interior walls, ceilings, and trim of a building. It is designed to provide color, protection, and durability to indoor surfaces. Interior paint comes in a variety of finishes, such as matte, eggshell, satin, semi-gloss, and gloss, which determine the level of sheen or shine on the painted surface. It can also be formulated with special features such as mildew resistance, easy cleaning, or low odor. When choosing interior paint, consider factors such as the type of surface being painted, the desired finish, and the room's function and mood.

EXTERIOR COATINGS

Exterior coatings refer to a range of protective layers that are applied to the exterior surfaces of buildings, structures, and objects to enhance their appearance, durability, and resistance to weather and other environmental factors. These coatings come in a variety of forms, including paint, stains, sealers, and topcoats, and can be made from a range of materials, including acrylics, polyurethanes, and silicone.

COMMERCIAL COATINGS

Commercial coatings are specialized coatings designed for use in commercial and industrial settings. They are used to protect surfaces and materials from wear, tear, and damage caused by heavy use and exposure to the elements. These coatings can be applied to various surfaces including concrete, metal, and wood, and are available in a wide range of finishes and colors.

STENCIL WALLS

Stencil walls are a type of wall decoration that involves using a stencil, or a template, to create a pattern or design on the wall. The stencil is usually made of a material like plastic or cardboard and has cut-out sections that correspond to the desired design. The stencil is then placed on the wall and paint is applied through the cut-out sections, creating the desired pattern.

DESIGNER WALLS

Designer walls refer to the use of innovative and visually appealing wall treatments, colors, patterns, and textures in interior design. This approach aims to create a unique and aesthetically pleasing look that enhances the overall ambiance of a space. Designer walls can be achieved through a variety of techniques, including wallpaper, paint, stenciling, and murals.

KIDS WORLD

Kids World Paint is a fun and interactive painting program designed specifically for kids! With a simple and user-friendly interface, kids can explore their creativity and imagination as they paint pictures and create masterpieces. The program features a variety of colorful tools and brushes, allowing kids to create unique and vibrant paintings.

ROOF GUARD

Roof coatings are a type of protective material used to seal and protect the surface of a roof from various environmental elements such as rain, wind, snow, and UV rays. They are applied to the roof surface to create a barrier against water penetration, to help reflect heat, and to improve energy efficiency. Roof coatings can be made from a variety of materials including silicone, polyurethane, elastomeric, and acrylic.

WOOD & METAL COATINGS

Wood & Metal Coatings are a type of protective finish that are applied to wooden or metal surfaces to enhance their durability and resistance to damage. These coatings can range from simple clear coats to more complex paint and stain combinations. The purpose of these coatings is to protect the surface from moisture, sun exposure, and general wear and tear.

INDUSTRIAL COATINGS

Industrial coatings are specialized coatings used to protect various surfaces in industrial settings. These coatings are designed to withstand the harsh and corrosive environments present in industrial settings, such as factories, power plants, and mines. Industrial coatings are made with durable materials, such as epoxy, polyurethane, and polyester, to ensure long-lasting protection against abrasion, impact, chemicals, and other harsh conditions.

EPOXY FLOORING

Epoxy flooring is a type of flooring that is made from a two-part resin system, typically composed of a base material and a hardening agent. This mixture is applied to a concrete surface to create a durable, seamless and high-performance flooring solution. Epoxy flooring is commonly used in industrial and commercial settings such as garages, workshops, warehouses, and retail spaces, due to its durability and resistance to wear and tear, chemicals, and impact.

SPECIAL COATINGS

Special paint coatings refer to advanced formulations of paint that provide additional benefits beyond just color and appearance. These coatings can provide added protection against elements like UV rays, moisture, corrosion, and chemicals. They can also improve durability, resistance to abrasion and wear, and enhance overall performance of the painted surface. Some common examples of special paint coatings include anti-rust coatings, heat-resistant coatings, waterproof coatings, and anti-graffiti coatings.
